Eclectic Sources of Law

This is a new section, and we haven’t prepared an outline for it yet. We would like to have a freewheeling discussion of the documents that we have studied so far as “sources of law.” Think about the New Testament, Aethelberht’s and Gundobad’s “codes,” and the Collection in 74 Titles as “law.” Do they seem a little odd to you as “law”? What’s missing? What’s there that shouldn’t be there?
