

Thematic Index

- Abstraction and analytical reason basic characteristics of, 152–153 related to machine production in organization of work, 153, 156–157 related to practice conception of rationalized collective labor, 153–154, 157
- Agency, problem of, 294–302 intentional agency in development of negative capability, 294–297 nonintentional agency in development of negative capability, 297–299 half-intentional agency in development of negative capability, 299–302
- Agrarian–bureaucratic empires, 129, 199, 286, 289–290 closed options in, 88–92
- Agriculture
organizational form of, 187–192
- Anomalies (repressions, counterprinciples, deviance) resisted by formative contexts, 60 large-scale options of social life as having roots in anomalies of contemporary social experience, 165 petty commodity production as deviant alternative to dominant forms of work-organization complex, 181–187, 222–223 principles and counterprinciples in the law, 101–102 counterprinciples in contract and property law, offering alternative view of sources of obligation, 70–71, 204–207 paradoxes of private-rights complex illustrating counterprinciples in contract and property system, 198–207 repression of petty bourgeois radicalism, 29, 182–186 truth and error in polemic against petty commodity production, 223–228 family farm as deviant form of agricultural development, 187–191 explaining subordination of deviant mode of work organization without relying on mythical history of deep-structure social theory, 192–195
- Antigovernment: structure of voluntary association under program of an empowered democracy, 476–480
- See also* Empowered democracy
- Antinecessitarian explanation, as style of analysis, 327
- Artifact, society as, 10, 309–311, 373–377 artificial character of social life, 10 and stateless societies, 309–311 internal justification of empowered democracy: society as product of will, 373–377
- Association (human), 104, 144–145, 269–275, 362–363, 395 three elements, 104 passionate aspect of enacted version of, 144 instrumental aspect of enacted version of, 144–145 how organization of work realizes a scheme of human association in its instrumental aspect, 145 second-order necessity of formative contexts as articulate plan for, 269–275 one-model scheme of, 270 legal doctrine and imaginative scheme of, 271 popular consciousness and imaginative scheme of, 271–272 internal and visionary argument about different models of, 355–362 vision of, offered by empowered democracy, 362–363 unsuspected tensions between ideal models of human association and institutional arrangements, 395
- Brownian motion of social life, 267–275, 277
- Cadres, 415–420
task of recruiting and managing cadres, 415–420 sectarian, consensualist, and “enlightened” cadre, 417–419 effacing stark contrast between who is and who is not a cadre, 419
- Capital auctioning and capital rationing, 494–497
- Central capital fund, 493–494
- Centralization–decentralization, 5, 21–23, 167, 179, 502–506

- Centralization–decentralization (cont.)
 as concern of program for social reconstruction, 21 classical-liberal institutional embodiment of the ideal of decentralization in market economy based on absolute property rights, 21–23 rotating capital fund as device for economic decentralization, 23, 168 central governments, see Government danger of centralization and its antidotes in an empowered democracy, 502–506
- Centrist communitarianism, 23–24, 384–389 basic ideals, 23–24 and program of Politics, 23–24
- Checks and balances (constitutional technique), 72, 454–455 as cause of deadlock, 72 constraining effects of, 454 alternatives to, 455
- Chinese communist practice of “criticism and self-criticism,” 568
- Chinese Cultural Revolution (failed attempt to break out of the Soviet model) 241–246
- City-state republics, 92–95, 129 closed options in ancient city-state republics, 92–95
- Class interests, 305–309 applying thesis of negative capability to, 305–309 explanatory approach of False Necessity as weakening the determining force of, 306 class-based explanations as incapable of accounting for long-run cumulative change, 306 redefinition of class as distinct species of hierarchical ranking, 306–307
- Closed options
 general phenomenon of reasonless routine in history, 41–44, 87–88 in agrarian–bureaucratic empires of antiquity (example of reform cycles), 43, 88–92 in ancient city-state republics, 92–95 closed list of possible social worlds, 126
- Collective identities, 59, 73–74
- Collective mobilization, 402, 407–411, 436–441, 448 defining characteristics, 402, 480 combination of central decision with popular engagement in transformative practice, 436–441 traditional constitutionalism as inimical to mobilization from the bottom up, 209–221 dualistic constitutional experiments, 445–448 promotion of, by avoiding constitutional deadlock, 449–453 linking grassroots mobilization with contest for governmental power, 407–411 promotion of, by providing framework for group organization outside state, 476–480 promotion of, by reorganization of both work and capital allocation, 491–506, 506–508 promotion of, through destabilization rights, 530–535
- Communism, 49–51, 115–124, 139–167, 230–246 communists as sharers in radical project, 10, 83 as failing to lift burden of social division and hierarchy, 9, 39 communist reform cycle, 49–51, 115–124 communist alternative (another formative context), 230–246 understanding Soviet alternative without help of deep-structure social theory, 232–234 origins of Soviet model, 234–241 Chinese Cultural Revolution (failed attempt to break out of Soviet model), 241–246 doctrine of communism as intentional pursuit of negative capability, 296–297
- Community, 9–10, 58, 102–105, 535–556, 560–563 as vehicle for reconciliation of enabling conditions of self-assertion, 9, 24 relation between “community” as social ideal and its institutional embodiment, 10, 24 private community as realized in the family, 58, 102–105 change in content of communal idea when extended beyond family life, 104–105 standardized operating procedures in organization of work contrasted to communities of shared purposes, 150 private rights and subversion of communal relations, 201 revised conception of community, 535–536, 560–563
- Conflict, 275–277, 414–415 escalation of small-scale fighting and its transformative promise, 275 unavailability of necessary and sufficient conditions for escalation of, 275–277 middle-level crises as escalation-favoring circumstances, 276
- Constitution, constitutionalism, 72, 168, 444–476, 572–589

- constitutional techniques creating dead-lock, 72
- liberal constitutionalism as style of constitutional organization, 209
- mid-nineteenth century constitutional innovations, 209-210
- constitutional reorganization: example of the dualistic systems, 444-449
- recovering history of constitutional experience, 444-445
- institutional ideas in dualistic system, 447
- classical-liberal technique of dividing central government, 449
- multiplication of overlapping powers and unctions of central government as means of empowering democracy, 449-454
- shaping and resolving conflict of powers in governmental organization, 454-457
- absolute restraints on departments of government under empowered democracy, 456
- principles of priority among branches of government under empowered democracy, 456
- devolution of constitutional impasses to electorate under empowered democracy, 456-457
- decisional center of government under empowered democracy, 457-461
- miniconstitutions under empowered democracy, 461-462
- stability under constitutionalism of permanent mobilization (compromise and fundamental conflict), 462-474
- forms of decentralization of governmental power under empowered democracy, 474-476
- system of rights under empowered democracy, 508-539
- conception of structure-denying structure inspiring constitution of empowered democracy, 572-579
- ideal of empowerment, 575-581
- empowerment imagined and perverted, 581-585
- spirit of empowered democracy redefined by contrast to social democracy and classical republicanism, 585-589
- see also* Democracy; Empowered democracy; Government
- Constraints, 41-44, 52-57, 165-173
- common failure to recognize constraints, 41, 250
- failure of deep-structure social theory to explain, 42-44, 52, 86-87
- argument from constraint as traditional explanation for reform cycles, 53
- criticism of this argument, 56-57
- on renewal or recombination of beliefs and institutions making up a formative context, 64-65, 85-87, 95, 126, 165-171
- need for constraints on central government as pretext for checks and balances, 72
- without appeal to deep structure, 126, 170-171, 173
- of sequential effects, 173, 250
- Context making, a view of, 169-172, 246-351
- constraints on recombination of elements of a formative context as the reverse side of a thesis about context making, 169-171
- outlined, 248-251
- confronting freedom of individual from determination by formative contexts, 250-251
- its two-sided relation to Marxist social theory, 251-252
- stabilization and destabilization in workings of formative contexts, 247-249, 254-277
- negative capability, 249-250, 277-312
- negative capability as functionalist or ideological element in, 280-282
- sequential effects of formative contexts, 250-251, 312-319
- trashing the script, 319-324
- uses of, 324-332
- as basis for inclusive explanatory job, 324-327
- as basis for revising particular explanatory genres, 327-331
- functional explanations in, 332-337
- counterfactual explanations in, 337-340
- see also* Formative (institutional and imaginative) contexts of social life
- Contextuality, the paradox of, 342; see also Context making; Formative (institutional and imaginative) contexts of social life
- Contract, 70-71, 164, 167-168, 178, 195-207
- as dominant source of legal obligations in Western liberal democracies, 70-71
- counterprinciples in law and obligations of interdependence, 70-71, 204-207
- and market rights under empowered democracy, 520-523
- Counterfactual explanation in theory of context making, 337-340
- strong and weak tests for validity of, 338-339
- "Crisis of feudalism," 289
- Cultural-revolutionary politics of personal relations, 293-294, 349, 566-570

- Cultural-revolutionary politics (cont.) idea of a personalist program, 556–560
- Cultural-revolutionary program 556–570
 cultural-revolutionary politics of personal relations, 293–294, 349 cultural-revolutionary counterpart to institutional program, 556–576 transformed conception of community, 560–563 role defiance and role jumbling, 563–564 confusion of expressive means, 564–566 two truncated versions of cultural revolution, 566–570 subverting contrast between pure and impure in daily life, 569–570 subverting contrast between elites and masses in daily life, 568–569 no uniquely favored terrain for and no annointed champions of, 570 sources for study of, 630–631
- Darwinian theory, as example of functional explanation in nonintentional setting, 294
- Deadlock (stalemate) programmed into the organization of government by proto-democratic constitutional techniques, such as checks and balances, 72 consequences of, for frustration of party programs, 377–395 alternatives to, for ensuring governmental accountability and extending democratic practice, 449–461
see also Constitution
- Decentralization, see Centralization–decentralization
- Deep-structure social theory, 2, 14–15, 37–38, 40, 42–44, 81–82, 86, 126, 172, 174–175, 247–248 basic themes, 2, 14–15, 37–38, 68, 71, 247–248 list of possible social worlds, 15, 172 compulsive sequence of stages of social organization 15, 172 alternative trajectories of social change, 15 claim that there are distinct types of social organization succeeding one another and governed by higher laws, 17, 42–44, 57, 64–65, 68, 81–82, 86, 98, 216, 242 failure as explanatory social theory, 17, 42–44, 52, 64–65, 68, 81–82, 86, 98, 108, 126, 172–176, 181, 194, 233, 247–248 failure as program for social reconstruction, 11–12, 24, 38–39, 42–44, 216, 247–248, 349 and cycles of reform and retrenchment, 17
- Marx's original doctrines as most comprehensive statement of, 14–16, 251–252 related to proto-theory of False Necessity, 37–38, 40, 251 related to mythical history of formative contexts, 174–175 evolutionary form, 127
 and logic of group interests, 420
see also Social theory
- Democracy related to self-assertion, 9 relation between democratic social ideal and its institutional embodiment, 10, 21, 71, 75, 105 classical-liberal institutional forms of democratic ideal, 21 efforts to extend it to workplace require revision of its institutional form and ideal content, 105 three major institutional clusters composing characteristic formative context of late twentieth century industrial democracies, 179, see also Government; Private rights; Work mythical history of, 211–221 surprise of universal suffrage, 213–217 see also Empowered democracy; Parties; Social democracy
- Denaturalization (of society) as freedom from constraints of social division and hierarchy, 125–126 idea that different sets of institutional arrangements and enacted beliefs reflect varying degrees of advance in denaturalization of society, 164 see also Naturalistic view of society
- Dependence and domination, 25, 27, 39, 71
- Determinism, see Free will and determinism
- Disentrenchment, 9, 35–36, 59, 64, 167, 278–287 degree to which a formative context can be challenged in the midst of ordinary social life as aspect of, 278–279 relative disengagement of our practical and passionate dealings from preexisting structure of roles and hierarchies as aspect of, 279 material and intangible advantages of, 279 and development of productive capabilities, 282–288, 302–303 and lessening of conflict between conditions of self-assertion, 290–291 and freedom from choice between skeptical consciousness and social engagement, 291–292 agency of, 280, 294–302 Darwinian agency of, 280 cultural-revolutionary politics of personal

- relations in contemporary society as path to, 293–294
- Disinvestment (capital flight), as incident in contemporary reform cycles, 46, 57, 493–494
- Dissociated property rights, 382–383, 494 see also Private rights; Property; Rights
- Dissociation
dismemberment and reconstruction of original Western model of industrialism, in course of its diffusion as an exemplary theoretical and political experience, 82–87
- Disturbance, factor of, in history (defiance of contexts), 319–324, and context-transcending imagination, 320–322
- Economics and economies, 176–189, 480–508 current market forms, see Market political-business cycles as artifacts of formative contexts, 44–49, 115–124 style of economic analysis relating microeconomic phenomena to institutional givens, 115–116, 124 economic constraint and governmental power in Soviet-style economies, 115–125 economic constraint and governmental power in Yugoslav-style economies, 122–124 overlapping spheres of analytical reason, machine production, and rationalized labor, 151–154 mass production as economic basis of rigid variant of rationalized labor, 159 private enterprise and governmental policy, 176–180 civic and economic harms caused by current forms of economic organization, 44–49, 115–124, 480–491 organization of economy under empowered democracy, 480–508 rotating capital fund and its democratic control under empowered democracy, 491–502, see also Rotating capital fund turning economy into perpetual innovation machine, 491 economies of scale, 498–499 three tiers of capital givers and takers under empowered democracy, 492–500 distinguishing of unified property right, 491–492, 500–502 central capital fund/social investment fund under empowered democracy, 493–494 capital allocation regimes under empowered democracy: capital auctioning and capital rationing, 494–497 variability of tension between market decentralization and social control, 496 problems of scale and incentive under empowered democracy, 497–500 economic centralization and its antidotes under empowered democracy, 502–506 design of work under empowered democracy, 506–508 see also Disinvestment (capital flight); Market
- Emancipation
no relentless march toward ever greater emancipation from false necessity, 127 no finite spectrum of emancipation from false necessity, 164 degrees of emancipation from false necessity, 170
- Empowered democracy, 27–28, 169, 341–595 program of empowered democracy: re-making institutions, 341–595 contrasted with social democracy, 27–28, 389–391, 585–586 from explanations to programs, 341–355 normative force of conceptions of empowerment, 350–355 justification of the program, 355–362 visionary justification for, 362–368 vision of human association offered by, 362–363 facts and values in vision of, 365–368 three sets of empirical claims supporting the program, 366–368 internal justification (state not hostage to a faction; society as an artifact of will; frustration of party-political programs), 368–395 problems of transformative practice, 395–407 revising personal relations, 397–401 practical tasks of a transformative movement, 407–432 experimental anticipation of, 411–415 characteristics of social reality making experimental anticipations of the program possible, 412 transformative movement as model of experimental anticipation of, 413–414 exemplary conflict, 414–415 problems of transformative movement in power, 432–441 primacy of institutional reconstruction over economic redistribution, 432–436 institutions, 441–556 dualistic systems (an experiment in constitutional reorganization), 444–449 organization of government, 449–462 multiplication of overlapping powers and functions of central government as

- Empowered democracy (cont.) means of empowering democracy, 449–454 shaping and resolving conflict of powers in organization of government, 454–457 absolute restraint as principle governing conflicts between departments of government under reformed constitution, 456 priority among different branches of government, resolving conflicts of powers under reformed constitution, 456 devolution of constitutional impasses to electorate, 456–457 decisional center of government under revised constitutional order, 457–461 miniconstitutions in, 461–462 political stability in, 461–474 political stability and organization of partisan conflict, 462–474 forms of decentralization of governmental power in, 474–476 antigovernment: structure of voluntary association under program of empowered democracy, 476–480 organization of economy, 480–508, see also Economics and economies rotating capital fund (and its democratic control), 491–502 danger of centralization and its antidotes, 502–506 design of work, 506–508 system of rights, 508–539 generative principle of a reconstructed system of rights, 513–520 market rights, 520–524 immunity rights, 524–530 destabilization rights, 530–535 solidarity rights, 535–539 opportunities, alliances, and transitions, 539–556 opportunities to reconstruct institutions, 539–545 (for examples of opportunities, see Formative [institutional and imaginative] contexts of social life) alliances of interests among potential adherents to program of empowered democracy, 546–550 institutional arrangements as transitional forms, 550–556 cultural-revolutionary counterpart to institutional program, 556–570 spirit, 500, 570–596 spirit of the constitution (structure-denying structure, ideal of empowerment, empowerment imagined and perverted), 572–589
see also Constitution Empowerment, 9–10, 22, 126–127
 defined, 9–10, 348
 and subversion of entrenched social division and hierarchy, 35–36, 126, 249 concept of negative capability, 36, 39, 249–250 as development of productive capabilities, 282–288 as reconciliation of enabling conditions of self-assertion, 290–291 as reconciliation of consciousness of groundlessness of contexts with engagement in them, 291–292 normative force of conceptions of, 350–355 empowered democracy, 27, 341–395 artistic and religious versions of ideal of, 573–575 undermined by fatalistic skepticism, 575–578 perverted through contrast between leaders and followers, 581–585 inadequate under social democracy, 585–586 distorted by classical republicanism, 586–589 and militancy, 590–592
 and solidarity, 592–596
see also Empowered democracy Escalation of context-reproducing activities into context-disturbing conflicts, 34–35, 275–277 see also Context making “Everything is politics,” a refrain in contemporary theoretical disputes, 1–3, 38 see also Formative (institutional and imaginative) contexts of social life; Politics Exemplary social danger, 108–115, 167–168 conception of, 167–168 fighting against, as a characteristic routine, conditioned especially by imaginative aspect of each formative context, 108 form of the American experience, 108–110, 112–115 form of the Russian experience, 110–115 Explanatory social theory, 1–19, 37–39, 56, 252–253 related to program for social reconstruction, 1, 10, 11–14, 19, 56, 252–253, 347–355 as alternative to deep-structure social theory, 2, 17–19, 37–39 as alternative to Marxism, 1, 17–18, 37–39 as alternative to positivist social science, 17–19, 37–39 aims of False Necessity as explanatory theory of society, 1–8, 37–38, 219, 248–249

- Fact-value dichotomy, 353-354, 365-368 facts and values in the vision of empowered democracy, 365-368
- Family
 as embodiment of ideal of private community in North-Atlantic democracies, 58, 102-105 as constituted by personal power, 110 see also Association (human)
- Formative (institutional and imaginative) contexts of social life
 defined, 6-7, 33-34, 58-61, 63
 no one context can be our permanent home, 12 explained by deep-structure social theory, 14-15, 52, 54-55, 64-65, 126, 172-176, 249 explained by positivist social science, 16-17, 54-55 as explanation of reform cycles, 51-79 as pervasive feature of social life, 4, 33-34, 58-61, 63 analysis of, 68-81
 how they shape conflicts over the resources of society, 5-6, 33-34, 58-59, 63 how they shape people's imaginative assumptions, 9, 33-34, 54, 58-60, 79, 96-97, 100-107 entrenchment (immunity to disturbance) of, 33-35, 59-61, 63-64, 80-81, 229, 248-249 disentrenchment as means of lifting grid of social division and hierarchy, 9, 35-36, 59, 64 escalation of context-reproducing activities into context-disturbing conflicts, 34-35, 59, 215, 249 divisible nature of, 48-49, 54, 64, 80-82, 95-96, 126, 165-170, 172-173, 211 related to cycles of reform and retrenchment, 11, 33-34, 44-49, 51-55, 63-64, 79-82, 172-173 revolutionary reform of formative context contrasted to reformist tinkering with and total revolution of, 64-65, 211 worldwide institutional dissociation and recombination of the original Western model of industrialism as exemplifying durability of, 82-87 importance of closed sets of live policy options in past societies, 87-95 imaginative side of, 100-107 in Soviet-style economies, 115-125 thesis about internal constitution of formative contexts, 126 rigid rationalized labor based on either unified property rights or centralized bureaucratic control of economy, 167 inability to combine rigid variant of rationalized collective labor with democratized disaggregation of unified property rights, 168 inability to combine rigid variant of rationalized labor with system of rank-specific prerogatives as example of constraint on context-making, 167-168 genesis of, problem for theory of context making, 172-176 mythical history of modern Western institutions related to deep-structure social theory, 174-176 three main doctrines of incorporation, an example of the mythical history of formative contexts, 172-178 mythical history of, in Western industrial democracies, 174-176 genesis of Soviet-style formative contexts, 232-241 Chinese Cultural Revolution as a failed attempt to break out of Soviet model, 241-246 how they shape conflicts over the resources of society, 247-248 two moments in the stabilization of a formative context, 254-256 their second-order necessity: when reinforced by organizational and technological style, 256-263 producing and supporting roles and ranks, 263-264 their second-order necessity: when infused by logic of group interests, 263-269 their second-order necessity: when interpreted as articulate plan for human association, 269-275 their varying availability for disentanglement, 278 disentanglement of, resulting in negative capability, 291 sequential effects of, 312-315, 319
 trashing the script, 319-329 resistance to context, 319-322 self-fulfilling qualities of our ideas about, 322-324 defeat at war as opportunity to reconstruct, 541 realignment of institutional arrangements for sake of continued economic growth, as opportunity to reconstruct, 541-543 search for more ambitious forms of self-fulfillment, in the setting of continuing economic dissatisfaction, as opportunity to reconstruct, 543-545
- Framework(s), see Formative (institutional and imaginative) contexts of social life
- Free alignment, idea of, 307-308

- Freedom
- two enabling conditions of self-assertion, 9, 35–36, 104–105, 123–124, 349–350
 - emancipation from false necessity, 127, 164, 170
 - disentrenchment, enabling social condition of development of practical capabilities, 9, 35–36, 59, 64, 168, 278–287
 - trashing the script, 9, 319–324
 - society as artifact, 309–311, 373–377
 - structure-denying structures, 572–575
 - and imagination, 574
 - constraints on the recombination of beliefs and institutions making up a formative context, 64–65, 85–87, 95, 126, 165–171
 - nineteenth century doctrines of freedom and economic development as efforts to depoliticize basic structure of rights and economic policy, 128
 - through promotion of flexible variants of work organization, 180–195, 506–508
 - rotating capital fund as an alternative to absolute property rights (a device to regain freedom), 23, 168, 207, 491–502
 - through alternatives to classical-liberal system of rights, 71, 129–135, 164, 288–292, 508–520
 - conception of private immunity variable with respect to rigidification of social order, 130–133, 164
 - see also* Empowered democracy; Empowerment
- Free will and determinism, 4–5
- and acknowledgment of two-sided element of disturbance, 321
- Functional equivalents, 65
- Functional explanation
- idea of, 332
 - as species of causal explanation, 332
 - negative capability and, 294
 - intentionalist model of, 294, 333
 - Darwinian model of, 294, 333
 - in theory of context making, 332–337
 - fit of core evolutionary theory with, 334
- Government, governmental-organization complex, 3, 71–75, 130–131, 149, 176–180, 207–221
- as element in formative contexts of Western industrial democracies, 71–75
 - private enterprise and governmental policy, 176–180
 - genesis of the governmental-organization complex, 207–221
 - mythical history of democracy, 211–221
 - central governments, 128
 - governmental counterpart to staff–line distinction, 149
 - criticism of mythical history of democracy, 213–220
- Grassroots mobilization, 407–411
- linking grassroots mobilization with contest for governmental power (task of transformative movements in quest of power), 407–411
- Group interests, logic of, 263–269, 420–426, 546–550
- second-order necessity of a system of, 263–269
 - and intangible assumptions, 264–265
 - and tangible compromises, 265–267
 - creating opportunities for destabilization, 265–269
 - ambiguous nature of, 267–269
 - broadening and narrowing strategies, 267–268, 426, 547
 - recognizing and devaluing (in the quest of a transformative movement for power), 420–424
 - as dependent on institutional frameworks, 420
 - Marxist version of, 546
 - alliances of interests among potential adherents to program of empowered democracy, 546–550
- Historicity, idea of
- requirements to make historical perspective secure, 248
- History
- its fabulously compulsive and somnambulant character, 6
 - closed options in history and idea of the reform cycle, 41–44, 87–95
 - view of convergence and nonconvergence implicit in account of context making, 318–319
 - see also* Historicity, idea of; Mythical history (of contemporary formative contexts); Script
- Hobbesian strife, 63, 422–423, 464
- Human association, see Association (human)
- Imagination, imaginative aspects of formative contexts
- how they shape the forms and outcomes of routine conflicts of social life, 33, 43, 58–61
 - how they shape argumentative and discursive routines, 58–60, 79, 96–97, 100
 - how they shape preconceptions about possible and desirable styles of association in particular fields of social practice, 58, 100–107
 - imaginative counterpart to reform cycles, 107–115
 - conceptual and practical activities, 167
 - nature of, 574

- Incomes policy, 47-48 failure of contemporary Western democracies to implement, 47-48 relation to reform cycles in contemporary Western democracies, 47-48 and dynamic of invidious comparison, 471-474
- Indeterminacy, see Free will and determinism
- Industrial revolution, 286
- Institutional genealogy, 173-176, 180-221 as an alternative to a mythical history, 174-176 of work-organization complex, 180-195 of private-rights complex, 195-207 of governmental-organization complex, 207-221 minimalist theme, 221-222, 228-230 maximalist theme, 222-223, 228-230
 genesis of Soviet-style formative contexts, 232-241 Chinese Cultural Revolution as attempt to break out of Soviet model, 241-246
- Institutions (institutional aspect of formative contexts), 20-25, 58-61, 69-79, 164, 397-401 major institutions of social life defined, 8, 58, 60 how they shape routines of social life, 33, 58-61 institutional embodiment of market, 22-24 institutional embodiment of ideal of community, 24 institutions advocated by radical left, 24-25 institutions of social democracy, 30 work-organization complex in North-Atlantic democracies, 69-71 private-rights complex in North-Atlantic democracies, 70-71 governmental-organization complex in North-Atlantic industrial democracies, 71-75 occupational-structure complex in North-Atlantic democracies, 75-79 different institutional arrangements reflect varying degrees of advance in denaturalization of society, 164, 167 tensions between ideal models of human association and institutional arrangements, 295 reconstructing institutional arrangements and revising personal relations, 397-401 primacy of institutional reconstruction over economic redistribution, 432-436, 439, 440, 557 primacy of institutional change qualified, 435-436 see also Institutional genealogy
- Investment decisions, 320, 482 privileged control over, in North-Atlantic democracies, 370 democracy jeopardized by privileged control over, 482
- Labor, see Work
- Large-scale options of social life large-scale options of social life as experiments in degrees of emancipation from false necessity, 125-128, 164 parallels with Galileo's idea of experimentation, 127-128 conception of, distinguished from theory of possible social worlds, 126-127, 170-171 rank-specific prerogatives as style of law and right, 128-130 classical-liberal entitlements as style of law and right, 130-133 super-liberal entitlements as style of law and right, 133-134 patron-client relations as organizing principle of social life at micro level, 135-144 primacy of patron-client relations as consequence of partial withdrawal of entrenched divisions and hierarchies, 136-137 rationalized collective work as alternative to patron-client relations, 144, 147 rigid and flexible variants of rationalized collective labor, 154-158 related to idea of negative capability, 164 large-scale options of social life suggested by anomalies of contemporary social experience, 165 and idea that stable coexistence of elements of each formative context requires that they represent similar level of disenfranchisement, 165-169 see also Large scale options of social life; Social theory
- Law, legal arguments, 59-60, 100-101, 105-107, 166-167, 271, 301-302 as argumentative routines shaped by a formative context, 59-60, 79, 100 principles and counterprinciples in property and contract law, 70, 101 principles and counterprinciples in constitutional law, 101 interpretation of law as guided by images of human association, 105-107, 167 styles of legal analysis distinguished with respect to their naturalistic quality, 166-167 labor law, 203-206
 legal doctrine and view of possible and desirable forms of human association, 271

Law (cont.)

- legal doctrine as both substantive conception of social organization and method of analysis, 301-302
- and pseudorationality, 452
- traditional judiciary restrained from far-reaching intervention in social practices, 452
- system of rights under empowered democracy, 508-539
- trouble with established system of legal rights, 511-513
- restrictive influence of consolidated property in established system of legal rights, 511-513
- traditional legal thought and supposed antipathy between rights and community, 518-519
- traditional contrast between private and regulatory law, 520-521
- see also Private rights; Rights
- Lawlike forces, 128
- Left
 - leftists as sharers in radical project, 1
 - disservice done to the left by Marxism, 1, 35
 - leftist criticism of collective institutions, 11, 20, 40
 - identity of leftist idea, 392
- Liberalism, 1, 10, 21-23, 122-123, 296-297, 379-391, 449, 467-468, 557-558
 - liberals as sharers in radical project of emancipation, 1, 10, 27, 83
 - liberalism as modern doctrine of emancipation, 10
 - classical-liberal doctrine contrasted to argument of False Necessity, 21-22
 - task of revising its institutional commitments, libertarian doctrine, 122-123
 - liberal democracies, 133
 - liberal constitutionalism as style of constitutional organization, 209
 - doctrines of liberalism as intentional pursuit of negative capability, 296-297
 - classical-liberal program of governmental decentralization and economic competition, 379-384
 - centrist program of corporatism and community, 384-389
 - social-democratic program of redistribution and participation, 389-391
 - classical-liberal technique of dividing central government, 449
 - liberal-democratic politics in tension with existing social divisions and hierarchies, 455
 - dilemma of routine and revolution in modern liberal democracies, 467-468
 - classical-liberal objection to personalist counterpart to institutional program of empowered democracy, 557-558

- Machine production, 151-154, 157
 - and analytical reason and rationalized labor, 151-154
 - concept of machine and its affinity to idea of reason as interplay between abstract conceptions and operational acts, 153
 - machine as analysis on horseback, 153
 - machine as largely self-correcting device, 157
- Market, market economy, 21-23, 70-71, 167, 480-491, 493, 497-499
 - relation between "the market" as a social ideal and its institutional embodiment, 16, 21-23, 48, 71, 75, 97, 115
 - confusion of the abstract market idea with economic decentralization through unified property rights, 21, 70-71, 196-198
 - libertarian version of "the market," 22-23
 - neutral uncontroversial system of private rights as supposed legal content of "the market," 22
 - exchange and power, confused with each other, 135
 - stability and instability of markets, 159
 - market failure, 160
 - unwarranted identification of abstract idea of decentralized market decision with particular system of contract and property rights, 178
- Marxist view of market, 196-197
 - mythical history of relationship between democracy and market, 212-213
 - classical-liberal program of governmental decentralization and economic competition, 379-384
 - centrist program of corporatism and community, 384-389
 - social-democratic program of redistribution and participation, 389-391
 - current market regime and its costs, 480-491
 - abstract concept of, 481
 - power order generated by established market institutions, 482-483
 - economic progress constrained by established market system, 483-486
 - tension between market decentralization and social control, 493-494
 - constraints established market system imposes on economic progress, 483-486
 - market rights (under empowered democracy), 520-524
 - see also Economics
- Marxism
 - as explanatory social theory, 2
 - as social program, 11-12
 - as example of deep-structure social theory, 14-15, 18, 38, 81-82
 - Marxist view of market, 196-197
 - Marxist thesis that narrowness of party-

- political conflict can be attributed to false consciousness, 215–216
- two-sided relation of view of context-change in False Necessity to Marxist social theory, 251–252
- as most powerful statement of antinaturalistic conception of society, 252
- Marxist thesis about class society and development of productive forces compared to thesis of negative capability, 287–288
- Mass production, see Economics
- Military, 156, 161–164
- flexible rationalization in warfare, 156
- institutional conditions for predominance of rigid style of warfare, 161–164
- hierarchy of command without firm contrasts between definers and operators, 162
- rationality in warfare, 163
- primacy of intelligence, 163
- Miniconstitutions, see Constitution
- Mobilizational democracy, 168–169
- see also* Democracy; Empowered Democracy; Social Democracy
- Mobilizational dictatorship, 168–169
- Modernism, 510
- radical project as project of modernist visionary, 9, 13–14, 22, 27, 173
- modernist criticism of personal relations, 11, 40
- existentialist-modernist view of our relations to our contexts, 98–99
- and cult of self-fulfillment, 544–545
- Mythical history (of contemporary formative contexts)
- current institutions as necessary expressions of deep-seated imperatives, 174–177
- liberal-conservative form, 175
- Marxist form, 175
- of work organization, 180–183
- proto-industrialization theory in the mythical history of work-organization complex, 183–185
- explaining repression of deviant mode of work organization without recourse to, 192–195
- of private-rights complex, 196–198
- three paradoxes in mythical history of private rights, 198–207
- of democracy, 211–213
- Naturalistic view of society, the naturalistic premise
- different degrees of advance in denaturalization of social life, 125–126, 164
- ideal of empowerment through denaturalization, see Empowered democracy; Empowerment
- “as if the naturalistic premise were true,” 128
- different institutionalized arrangements reflect varying degrees of advance in the denaturalization of society, 164
- concept of denaturalization or emancipation from false necessity, 164
- Necessity, false, see Formative (institutional and imaginative) contexts of social life
- Negation
- “endless labor of negation” – preferred attitude of modernist radical or visionary, 13
- Negative capability, 36–37, 164–170, 277–312
- core idea of, 277–282
- institutional embodiment, 164–165
- intimation of greater negative capability, 165
- constraints of negative capability and of sequence, 169–170, 315–319, 332–340
- similar level of negative capability as condition of coexistence of parts of stable formative context, 165–166
- as empowerment through disentanglement, 249
- practical advantages of disentanglement, 282–288
- and threat of mobilizational dictatorship, 286–287
- thesis of, compared to Marxist thesis about class society and development of productive forces, 287–288
- comparative historical perspective on thesis of, 288–291
- noneconomic varieties, 290–294
- empowering us to master our formative institutional and imaginative contexts, 291
- as species of functional explanation, 294
- intentional and unintentional development of (problem of agency), 294–302
- thesis qualified and reinterpreted, 302–305
- interplay between negative capability and sequential effects, 315–319
- New Economic Policy (NEP) in Soviet Union, 50, 235, 238
- see also* Communism; Soviet-style economies
- “No redistribution without militancy,” 439
- Normative ideas, 355–360, 437, 550
- and internal argument, 355–359, 437
- and visionary argument, 359–360, 550
- Obsessions and routines, examples of craziness of commonplace, 111–115
- Occupational-structure complex, an element in formative contexts of North-Atlantic democracies, 75–79
- Organizational and technological style of economic activity, 147–149, 256–263
- practical constraint and institutional artifice in, 147

- Organizational and technological style (cont.)
 stabilized formative institutional arrangements as basis for, 256 and second-order necessity of institutional settlements on which it is superimposed, 256–259 creating opportunities for destabilization, 259–263 standard operating procedures and continuous hierarchy, 149–151 under empowered democracy, 506–508
- Parties, political, 45–49, 72–74, 174, 377–395 perplexing mixed character in modern politics, 72–74, 208 mythical history of democracy, 211–213 criticism of mythical history of democracy by examination of two aspects of development of modern representative democracies that mythical history cannot explain, 213–220 as frustrated agents of reform cycles of contemporary Western democracies, 45–49, 66 party-political conflict, 174 and conditions of stability, 217–221 frustration and fulfillment of party-political programs, internal justification of empowered democracy, 377–395 conservative (classical-liberal) program of governmental decentralization and economic competition, 379–384 centrist program of corporatism and community, 384–389
 social-democratic program of redistribution and participation, 389–391 as primary tool for conquest of governmental power, 408
- Partisan conflict, 462–474
 Marxist view that narrowness of party-political conflict can be attributed to false consciousness, 215–216 political stability under empowered democracy, 462–474 basis of ancient hostility to, 463 conditions on which partisan conflict became acceptable to liberal-democratic theory and practice, 463–464 relation of party-political programs to current institutional framework, 465–466 how recurrent conflict over fundamentals may be reconciled with indispensable stability, 464–474
- Patron-client relation, 135–144, 164, 270 character of, 135–136 core instances and peripheral manifestations, 136–140 logic of, 140–144 little drama of patron and client, 137 related to organization of work, 137–139 patronage as exemplary constraint upon people's effort to remake society, 139–140 confusion of fear and gratitude, 141 as more rigidifying than both the rigid and the flexible form of rationalized collective labor, 164 in a one-model scheme of human association, 270
- Petty bourgeois radicalism, 21–31, 182–186, 314 related to program of empowered democracy, 25, 28–31 petty bourgeois romantics, 182 marginalization of, in modern European societies, 223–228, 314, 339–340, 342–347 see also Petty commodity production
- Petty commodity production, 29–30, 181–187, 223–228, 257, 265, 293, 342
 defined, 342
 basic characteristics, 29 objections to, by right and left, 29–30 as rival to dominant institutional order, 175, 181–185 as exception and alternative to dominant style of work organization, 181–187, 222–223 as incompatible with property-based market economies and North-Atlantic style democratic institutions, 182 dismissed by proto-industrialization theory, 183–185 historical examples, 185, 187, 314 family farm as form of petty commodity production, 187–191 and broader significance of modern institutional history, 222–223 truth and error in polemic against petty commodity production, 223–228 formative context shaping conflicts over resources of society, 247–248 fighting and its transformative promise, 275–277 marginalization of, in modern European societies, 223–228, 314, 339–340 rescue of, 342–347
 and dilemma of economic concentration and stagnation, 343–344 transformative practice, 395–407
 collective mobilization, 402–411, 436–441 as empowered democracy, 414–415 task of identifying and exploiting transformative opportunity amid stability, 424–430, 463–464 constitutional reorganization, 444–449
 antigovernment, 476–480 empowering democracy, 449–454
- Plasticity, 168, 484
- Political parties, see Parties

Politics

- in contemporary theoretical disputes, 1-3, 38
- radical project, 9-10, 39, 364-365
- escalation of context-reproducing activities into context-disturbing conflicts, 34-35, 259-263, 267-269, 272-274, 275-277,
- two senses of, 44
- frozen politics, 41-43
- and the workplace, 105
- formative context shaping conflicts over resources of society, 247-248
- and genealogy of contemporary institutions, 172-246
- escalation of small-scale fighting and its transformative promise, 275-277
- transformative practice, 395-407
- demonic problem of, 396
- collective mobilization, 402-411, 436-441
- exemplary conflicts in an empowered democracy, 414-415
- task of identifying and exploiting transformative opportunity amid stability, 424-430, 463-464
- constitutional reorganization, 444-449
- overlapping powers and functions as means of empowering democracy, 449-454
- antigovernment, 476-480
- Pop culture, 114
- and cult of self-fulfillment, 544-545
- Positivist (or empirical or conventional) social science
 - basic themes, 15-17, 38, 247-248
 - three strategies for disregarding formative contexts (agnosticism, idealization, hollow concession), 16-17
 - its explanations and their deficiencies, 17, 54-55, 108, 172, 247-248
 - and cycles of reform and retrenchment, 17
 - its failure to support programmatic thinking, 39, 247-248
 - related to explanatory social theory of False Necessity, 12, 17-19, 38-39
 - and logic of group interests, 420
 - See also* Social theory
- Power
 - and immunity, 130-133, 164
 - freedom as an order of status-specific powers, 132
 - exchange and power, confused with each other, 135
 - stability and justification, 140-141
 - social solidarity and the success of a long-lived assertion of power, 142-144
 - basic differentials of power taken as horizon demarcating a world, 151
 - see also* Empowered democracy; Empowerment

- Power and immunity (classical-liberal style of law and right), 130-133, 164
- system of, 130-133
- different levels of sanctification of, 132
- relative contribution to freezing of social life in comparison to other forms of law and right, 130, 164
- Practical and passionate dealings, 1, 9, 12, 24, 27, 34-35, 59-61
- practical activities as opportunities for reform, 283
- practical reason, its characteristics and relation to machine production and work organization, 151-154
- Primary capital takers (in the system of rotating capital funds), 497-500
- see also* Economics
- Private rights, 70-71, 76-77, 125, 297
- no neutral uncontroversial system of private rights as pure case of "the market," 22
- as element in formative contexts of Western industrial democracies, 70-71, 76-77
- rights as restraints on what collectivities may do to individuals, 71
- unwarranted identification of abstract idea of decentralized market decision with particular system of contract and property rights, 178
- genesis of private-rights complex, 195-207
- animating spirit of, 196
- mythical history of, 196-198
- paradox of origin, 198-200
- paradox of specification, 200-204
- paradox of superfluity, 204-207
- depoliticizing markets, 297, 481
- see also* Contract; Privilege (style of law and right); Property; Rights
- Privilege (style of law and right), 128-130, 134
- restrictive correspondence between office and, 129
- Programmatic social thought
 - False Necessity* as program for social reconstruction, 1, 8-11, 219, 347-350
 - program of social reconstruction related to social democracy, 1, 25-28
 - related to explanatory social theory, 1, 10, 11-14, 19, 56, 347-355
 - of empowered democracy, 23-24
 - as genre informed and revised by a politicized social theory, 330
 - dilemma of programmatic theory in an era of theoretical agnosticism, 350
 - see also* Empowered democracy
- Property, 21-23, 48, 69-71, 131-132, 164, 167-168, 178, 195-207
- nature of unified (consolidated, absolute) property rights, 21, 70, 196, 481

- Propert (cont.)
 established version of a market economy as based on unified property rights, 21, 23, 70, 196
 rotating capital fund as alternative to, 23, 48 decomposition of unified property right as a mode of empowerment, 48, 226 unified property rights as support for rigid contrast between task-defining and task-executing activities, 69 unified property rights at center of the private-rights complex in Western industrial democracies, 70-71 relation of unified property to powers-and-immunities style of law and right, 131-136
 unified property distinguished from generic concept of a right, 131 economies of scale as pretext for unified
 property, 344
 temporary and limited claims upon divisible portions of social capital as an alternative to unified property right, 344 unified property as institutional shell of private despotism, 371 unified property rights and insulation of mass-production industries to arrange markets, 481 inheritance-free property system, 500 restrictive influence of unified property in established systems of legal rights, 511-513
 see also Market; Private rights; Rights
- Radical project
 defined, 9, 253
 related to program for radical democracy, 1, 39
 as project of modernist visionary, 9 as project of major secular doctrines of emancipation, (liberalism, socialism, communism), 10, 39
 combining the modernist criticism of personal relations with the leftist criticism of collective institutions, 11, 349 cognitive value of, 253-254 and vision of empowered democracy, 364-365
 radical direction of internal argument of programmatic theory, 391-395
- Realism about society false dilemma of reformist tinkering and utopian proposals, 12, 39
- Reality, sacred, 576-577 foundational reality or transcendent personal being, 576-577 experiences of personality and personal encounter that make up a social world, 576-577
- Reason and reasonlessness as qualities of reform cycles and other closed options in history
 in general, 41-44
 and reform cycles, 44-51
 a conception of reason abstracts and mirrors a practice of labor ("rational labor"), 145
 practice conception of reason and labor as special application of general idea of imagination, 146
 two directions for development of this conception: rigid and flexible variants, 146-147
 overlapping spheres of analytical reason, machine production, and rationalized labor, 151-154
 see also Reasonless routines
- Reasonless routines, 41-55, 66-68, 88-115
 two meanings of reasonlessness, 66-68 general phenomenon of closed options in history, 41-44
 exemplified by Western and communist reform cycles, 44-51
 difficulty of explaining reasonless routine, 51-55
 exemplified by closed options in agrarian-bureaucratic empires of antiquity, 88-92 exemplified by closed options in ancient city-states, 92-95
- Recombination worldwide, 82-87
 art of, 336
- Reform cycles, 31, 44-79, 172-173 and formative contexts in late twentieth century societies, 44-79 an exemplary problem for explanatory social theory, 5-7, 11, 17, 31, 53-55, 172-173
 major concern for a programmatic proposal, 11, 31, 53-55, 172-173 characteristic content and scope in modern North-Atlantic democracies, 5, 44-49 institutional or imaginative foundations of, in these democracies, 68-79 generalizing the idea, 87-88 characteristic content and scope in Sovietstyle societies, 5, 49-51
 institutional or imaginative foundations of, in these societies, 115-124 as insult to professed dogmas, 5, 51-52 as insult to power of the will to remake social life, 5, 52
 as series of second-best solutions, 5, 33-34, 51-52
 general problem exemplified by, 5-6, 52, 172-173
 failure of deep-structure social theory to account for, 17, 52, 54-55, 172-173

- failure of positivist social science to account for, 17, 54–55, 172
- traditional explanations of, 52–53, 66–67
- criticism of these traditional explanations, 55–57, 67–68
- work-organization, private-rights, governmental-organization, and occupational-structure complexes help explain reform cycles in Western industrial democracies, 69–79
- in Soviet-style economies, 115–125
- Repetition in social life, 5–8, 41–43
- as exemplified by reform cycles, 5, 7
- as exemplified more generally by historical and social experience, 6, 41–43
- its reasonless quality as problem for theoretical explanation, 7–8, 41–43
- Representative democracy, 52–56, 208
- as supposedly unbiased means for summing up interests, 52–53, 55
- failure of established institutions of representative democracies to institute unbiased system, 54, 55–56
- how alternative governmental and economic arrangements come closer than current institutions to creating an unbiased system, 56
- as merger of liberal constitutionalism and mid-nineteenth century constitutional innovations, 209–211
- mythical history of democracy, 211–212
- criticism of mythical history of, 213–220
- Resources of society making (creating the social future within the social present), 3–6, 10, 33, 41, 58, 100
- defined, 5–6, 10, 33, 41, 58
- stakes in use of, 3, 6, 33
- how formative contexts shape conflict over control and uses of, 5–6, 33
- making society by arguing about, 100
- Revolution, traditional concept of, 540
- Revolutionary reform, 1, 4, 36–37, 64–65, 81–87, 439–440
- as mode of social reconstruction, 1, 4, 36–37
- distinguished from reformist tinkering and all-out substitution of a formative context 64–65, 211
- distinguished from use of functional equivalents, 65
- dissociation and recombination of original Western model of industrialism, 81–87
- and popular organization from the bottom up, 407–411
- Rights, 71, 129–135, 164, 288–292, 508–539
- rights as restraints on what collectivities may do to individuals, 71
- right without dominion, 133–135, 164
- participation as basic form of right, 129
- public order of rights as a system of powers and immunities, 131
- cluster of entitlements as island of security, 131
- rights as powers and immunities (classical-liberal system of rights), 130–133, 164
- risk that revision of classical-liberal rights system will jeopardize restraints on what collectivities can do to individuals, 134
- right without dominion (alternative to classical-liberal system of entitlements), defined, 133–134
- classical-liberal system of private rights and entrenchment-based coercive surplus extraction, 288
- idea of universalistic rights, 292
- system of rights in an empowered democracy, 508–539
- redefining rights, 508–511
- trouble with established system of legal rights, 511–513
- restrictive influence of unified property on current theory and practice of rights allocation, 51
- generative principles of reconstructed system of rights, 513–520
- traditional legal thought and supposed antipathy between rights and communitarian experience, 518–519
- market rights in an empowered democracy, 520–524
- immunity rights under empowered democracy, 524–530
- negative guarantees against governmental or nongovernmental oppression and affirmative claims to civic participation as immunity rights, 526–528
- welfare entitlements as immunity rights, 528–529
- destabilization rights under empowered democracy, 530–535
- operational characteristics of destabilization rights, 535
- solidarity rights in an empowered democracy, 535–539
- operational characteristics of solidarity rights, 537–538
- see also Private rights; Property
- Right without dominion (a style of law and rights)
- defined, 133–134
- risk that right without dominion will endanger existence of entitlements as restraints on powers of groups over individuals, 134
- as less rigidifying than system of private entitlements based on a system of power and immunity, 164
- detailed realization through rights system of empowered democracy, 513–539
- Rigidity
- as quality of institutional arrangements,

Rigidity (cont.)

70, 146-147, 154-163, 164, 167-168

contrasted to stability, 280

Roles and ranks, 263-266 produced and supported by formative institutional and imaginative frameworks, 263-264

Rotating capital fund, 23, 491-502

as alternative to unified property right, 23, 168, 207 and breakdown of rigid contrast between task-defining and task-executing activities, 168 and its democratic control, 491-502 core conception of, 491-493

central capital fund, 493-494

specialized social investment funds, 494-497 capital auction as regime of specialized funds, 495-496 capital rationing as regime of specialized funds, 496 primary capital takers, 497-500

use of, contrasted to inheritance-free property system, 500-501 see also Economics; Empowered democracy Routines

routine struggles within formative contexts contrasted with revolutionary struggles about, 1, 4, 12, 34-35, 60, 81 routines shaped by formative contexts, 33-34, 58-61, 172 how routine struggles within formative contexts can escalate into revolutionary struggles about them, 34-35, 59 problem of reasonless routines, 41-44, 66-68, 95-115, see also Reasonless routines

two meanings of reasonlessness, 66-67

escalation of framework-preserving routines into framework-transforming conflicts, 277

repetitious cycle of routine politics, 129 see also Formative (institutional and imaginative) contexts of social life; Reasonless routines; Reform cycles

Rule-following and pseudo-intimacy in American way of fighting exemplary social danger, 109-110

Script

prewritten social script, 9

trashing the script, 319-324

Self-assertion

two enabling conditions of, 9, 35-36, 104-105, 123-124 disentrenchment of formative contexts as means of reconciling enabling conditions of self-assertion, 35-36, 97, 349-350

"community" as way of reconciling enabling conditions of self-assertion, 104-105 related to sanity (madness), 111

as noneconomic variety of negative capability, 290-291 as means of resolving conflict between imperative of engagement in shared forms of life and dangers of dependence, 351-352 existential projects and social visions resulting from general view of, 351-352

Self-fulfillment, cult of, 543

as opportunity to reconstruct formative contexts, 543-545

Sequential effects of formative contexts

idea of, 312-315

interplay between negative capability and sequential effects, 315-319

see also Context making; Formative (institutional and imaginative) contexts of social life

Social democracy, 1, 25-28, 389-391, 585-586 conception, 25-26, 389-390, 585-586 criticized, 390-391, 586

see also Democracy

Social division and hierarchy, 1, 9-10, 22-24, 59-60, 125-126, 139, 144, 256-257, 260, 262, 276 as constraint on our practical and passionate dealings, 1, 9-10, 13, 22 empowerment through subversion of, 11, 22-24, 39-40 market and, 22-23

community and, 24

"force" of a scheme of, defined, 59 connections between place in technical division of labor and place in broader social hierarchy, 75-76 patron-client deal takes social division and hierarchy from impersonal to personal, 139 and work-organization complex, 257 and renovating reform, 295 weakening of established forms of social division and hierarchy as a vision of empowered democracy, 362

Social division of labor, 75-79, 265

Social ideals, 10, 19-27, 104-107 defined by implicit assumptions about institutional forms and domains of application, 10, 19-27, 104-107 their transformation into particular institutional arrangements and social practices, 19 classical-liberal, and their institutional realization, 23, 379-384 centrist-communitarian, and their institutional form, 24, 384-389 social-democratic, and their institutional embodiment, 25-27, 389-391

- Socialism
 socialists as adherents to the radical project, 10, 83 socialism as intentional pursuit of negative capability, 296–297
- Socialist legality, 50
- Social theory
 comprehensive social theories, 11–12 a proto-theory, 32–41
 an inclusive explanatory job in, 324–326 normal practice of (not complete job), 327–331 functional explanation in, 332–337 counterfactual explanation in, 337–340 deep-structure social theory, see Deep-structure social theory positivist social science, see Positivist (or empirical or conventional) social science routines of social reproduction, Social Theory: Its Situation and Its Task, 5, 8–9, 14, 21, 32, 173, 394 large-scale options, 125–128, 135–172 self-fulfilling quality of social theories, 322–324 near exclusion of social experiment and true face of civilization, 128 institutionalized social arrangements must be reproduced by practical and conceptual activities, 166
- Society
 as having a pre-written script, 9, 56–57, 319–32 traffic in ruling dogmas of society, 19 as artifact, 309–311
 artifactual conception of and internal criticism of contemporary democracies, 373–377 stateless societies, 309–311
- Solidarity
 a smaller version of love, 142 solidarity and empowerment, 592–596
- Soviet-style economies, 115–125, 389 microeconomic constraints, reform cycles, and institutional foundations, 115–122 genesis of institutional arrangements responsible for shaping reform cycles of the Soviet-style economies, 234–241 see also Communism
- Soviet-style institutions
 genesis of Soviet-style formative contexts, 115–122, 232–241 Chinese Cultural Revolution as failed escape from Soviet model, 241–246
- Soviet Union, see Communism; New Economic Policy (NEP) in Soviet Union; Soviet-style economics
- Spirit (of program of empowered democracy) concept of spirit of an institutional program, 570–571 inspiring institutional program of empowered democracy, 570–595 senses of spirit, 570–572 as structure-denying structure, 572–575 as transformation of other social ideals, 581–585 spirit of the constitution redefined by contrast, 585–589
- Stabilization–destabilization, 254–277, 424–430, 463–464 second-order necessity of formative contexts (organizational and technological style, logic of group interests, scheme of human association), 269–277 stability and destabilization in workings of formative contexts, 254–277 two moments in stabilization of formative context, 254–256 and organizational and technological style of production, 256–263 and logic of group interests, 264–269 and imaginative scheme of models of possible and desirable forms of human association, 269–275 as style of analysis, 328 spiritualization of violence as a requisite for stabilization of a social world, 398–399 task of identifying and exploiting transformative opportunity amid stability, 424–430, 463–464 stability under empowered democracy: uncoupling fundamental and nonnegotiable aspects of conflict, 463–464 destabilization rights (in an empowered democracy), 530–535
- Ständestaat*, 132, 201–202
- State
 experiments with the state: privilege and rights, 128–135 thesis of negative capability applied to the state, 309–312 speculative hypothesis about origins of state and its relation to class society, 309–311 state not hostage to a faction (an internal justification of empowered democracy), 368–373
- Structures, see Formative (institutional and imaginative) contexts of social life
- Super-theory, see Ultra-theory and Super-theory
- Surplus extraction, coercive institutional arrangements that help reproduce rigid roles and hierarchies as a basis for, 285
- Take-it-or-leave-it, idea that formative con-

- Take-it-or-leave-it (cont.) texts are indivisible, or that they can be changed in content but not in character, 36-37, 81-87, 95-99, 258 manifest in deep-structure social theory, 13-18, 97, 99 divisible nature of formative contexts, 4, 36-37, 48-49, 54, 81-82, 95 overcome through diffusion and recombination of original institutional context of industrialized economies, 82-87
- Task-defining and task-executing activities, 30, 76-77, 138, 154-155, 176-177, 180, 256-257, 274, 498 distinction explained, 69, 76 their importance, 76-77 difference between, as rigid variant of practice conception of reason and labor, 146, 154-155 rigid and flexible variants of contrast between task definition and task execution, 146-147, 154-163, 164, 180 practice conception of rationalized collective labor: as interplay between task definition and task execution, 153-154 institutional conditions of rigid contrast between task definition and task execution in production and warfare, 158-163
- Technology (technological capabilities and their enabling institutional context), 82-87, 256-263, 338 and rationalized labor, 144-163
- Theory of context-making, 33, 36-37, 43-44
see also Context making; Formative (institutional and imaginative) contexts of social life
- Third-world countries as arena for dissociation of original Western model of industrialism, 82-87 pressure to choose between more mobilizational democracy and no democracy at all, 346, 394-395
- Town and country, 299
- Transformation explanatory theory of False Necessity as view of context making, 11, 37-39, 60 superstitious idea of inexorable logic of social transformation (and underlying economic, organizational, and psychological constraints), 12 programmatic argument and theory of social transformation, 21, 38-40 "realistic" and "utopian" views of transformation, 12, 39 failure of deep-structure social theory to account for remaking of formative contexts, 43-44 formative contexts as resistant to, 60-61 transformative opportunities resulting from operation of context-stabilizing opportunities, 255-256 a logic of group interests creating opportunities for, 264-269 problems of transformative practice, 395-407 task of view of transformative practice, 395-397 reconstructing institutional arrangements and revising personal relations, 397-401 risks and opportunities in transformative uses of governmental power, 401-407 linking grassroots mobilization with contest for governmental power, 407-411 experimental anticipation of empowered democracy, 411-415 exemplary conflict as form of experimental anticipation of empowered democracy, 414-415 recruiting and managing cadres in transformative practice, 415-420 recognizing and devaluing logic of group interests in transformative practice, 420-424 identifying and exploiting transformative opportunity amid stability, 424-430 conflict generated by enlistment of governmental power in service of private privilege, 425-426 choice between narrowing and expanding strategies of group interests as transformative opportunity, 426-427 middle-level crises as transformative opportunities, 427-428 visionary language in transformative practice, 430-432 primacy of institutional reconstruction over economic redistribution, 432-436 transformative opportunity through war and occupation, 541 transformative opportunity through economic reform, 541-543 transformative opportunity through quest for, 543-545 institutional arrangements as transitional forms, 550-556
- Trashing the script (of history), right thing to do when either thinking or acting, 319-324
- Ultra-theory and Super-theory, 8
- Underclass
 as an element in the occupational-structure complex, 78-79 in early American republic, 112
- Unions
 contractarian approach to organization of, 477-478 corporatist model in organization of, 478-479

- contractualist and corporatist traits combined, 477-480
- Utopian social vision, 12, 39 as contemporary genre of programmatic thinking, 330-331
- Visionary argument, 359-360, 550 two visionary ideas about society, 13 visions of human freedom, 1, 44
- Voting
surprises of universal suffrage, 213-216
- Welfare
legally defined minimal needs, 498
- Western states and societies
Western reform cycle, 44-49
- Work, work-organization complex, 69-70, 144-164, 256-263, 297, 506-508 element in formative contexts of North-Atlantic democracies, 69-70, 76 and organizational and technological style of economic activity, 256-263 organization of work constrained by patron-client style of association, 137-139, 164 clientalism and rationalized work, 144-147 organizational style, 147-149 structure of personal relations at work; conception of practical reason and scheme of human association realized through style of, 145 practice conception of reason and labor (rationalized collective labor), 145-147, 153-154 rigid and flexible versions of rationalized collective labor, 146, 154-158, 164, 180 distinction between staff and line, 147-149 professionalization of personnel, 147-149 organizational ideals of standardized operating procedures and continuous hierarchy, 149-151 underlying and reciprocally supporting principles of practical reason, machine production, and rationalized labor, 151-154 rigid and flexible variants of rationalized labor, 151-154 standardized operating procedures and continuous hierarchy, 157-158 institutional conditions for predominance of rigid variant of rationalized labor, 158-163 rationalized labor contrasted to patron-client relationship, 164 rigid rationalized labor supported by either unified property rights or centralized bureaucratic control, 167-168 how decomposition of property rights threatens predominance of rigid variant of, 168 genesis of work-organization complex, 180-195 mythical history of work organization, 180-185 proto-industrialization theory as element in mythical history of work-organization complex, 183-185 conflict over organizational form of manufacturing, 183-187 family farm as, 187-191 conflict over organizational form of agriculture, 187-192 explaining repression of deviant modes of work organization without recourse to mythical history or deep-structure social theory, 192-195 conflict of classical entitlements with, 200-201 under empowered democracy, 506-508
- Working class
and social division of labor in democracies, 78 experiences of powerlessness and humiliation in North-Atlantic democracies, 274
- Yugoslav innovations, 24 Yugoslav-style economy, 489, 498 characteristic problems, 122-124