

FALSE NECESSITY

Anti-Necessitarian Social Theory in the Service of Radical Democracy

from
POLITICS

A WORK IN CONSTRUCTIVE SOCIAL THEORY

ROBERTO MANGABEIRA UNGER

VERSO

London • New York

Contents

Introduction to the New Edition	page xvii
Words Without Echo	xvii
Theory Against Fate	xxx
The Second Way	lvii
Capable Governments and the Conditions for Rebellious Strategies of National Development	lxxviii
The Endowed and Equipped Individual	lxxxii
The Democratized Market Economy	lxxxvi
High-Energy Democracy	xcı
The Self-Organization of Civil Society	xcvi
Empowerment and Vulnerability	cxv
I The Nature and Intentions of the Argument	I
Explanatory and Programmatic Themes	I
Explanatory Themes	2
Programmatic Themes	8
The Explanatory and Programmatic Themes Related	ıı
The Explanatory Themes in Their Implicit Polemical Setting	ı4
The Programmatic Themes in Their Implicit Polemical Setting	ı9
Plan of the Book	3ı
A Proto-Theory	32
The Sense of a Proto-Theory	32
Theses of the Proto-Theory	33
Programmatic Implications of the Proto-Theory	37

2 The Making of Society Through Politics: Routine Without Reason	41
The Problem	41
A First Setting for the Problem: Reform Cycles and Formative Contexts in Late Twentieth Century Societies	44
The Western Reform Cycle	44
The Communist Reform Cycle	49
Explaining the Reform Cycles: The Hypothesis of a Formative Context	51
The Conventional Explanations	51
Criticism of the Conventional Explanations	55
The Idea of a Formative Context	58
Criteria for Membership in a Formative Context	61
Two Meanings of Reasonlessness	66
Explaining the Reform Cycles: The Analysis of a Formative Context	68
A Simplified Description	68
The Work–Organization Complex	69
The Private–Rights Complex	70
The Governmental–Organization Complex	71
The Occupational–Structure Complex	75
The Heart of the Difficulty	79
Another Setting for the Problem: Worldwide Recombination	82
Another Setting for the Problem: Closed Options in History	87
Generalizing the Idea of the Reform Cycle	87
Closed Options in the Agrarian–Bureaucratic Empires	88
Closed Options in the Ancient City-State Republics	92
The Problem Restated	95
The Problem of Routine Without Reason Generalized and Extended	96

The Problem Generalized: The Roots of Reasonless Routine	96
The Solution Extended: The Imaginative Side of Formative Contexts	100
An Imaginative Counterpart to the Reform Cycles: Fighting the Exemplary Social Danger	107
Appendix: Economic Policy, Reform Cycles, and Formative Contexts in the Soviet-Style Economies	115
3 The Making of Society Through Politics: A Spectrum of Social Experiments	125
The Idea of Large-Scale Options	125
Experiments with the State: Privilege and Right	128
The System of Privilege	128
The System of Power and Immunity	130
Right Without Dominion	133
Experiments with the Microstructure: Patron and Client	135
The Character of Patron–Client Relations	135
The Core Instances of Patron–Client Relations	136
The Peripheral Instances of Patron–Client Relations	138
The Logic of Patron–Client Relations	140
Experiments with the Microstructure: The Organization of Work	144
Clientalism and Rationalized Work	144
Task, Operation, and Hierarchy: The Organizational Style	147
Standard Operating Procedures and Continuous Hierarchy	149
Analytical Reason, Machine Production, and Rationalized Labor	151
The Rigid and the Flexible Variants of Rationalized Collective Labor	154
The Institutional Conditions for the Predominance of the Rigid Style of Industry	158

The Institutional Conditions for the Predominance of the Rigid Style of Warfare	161
The Sense of the Large-Scale Options	164
The Institutional Embodiment of Negative Capability	164
The Intimation of a Greater Negative Capability	165
Similarity in the Level of Negative Capability as a Constraint on Context Making	165
The Constraints of Sequence and the Constraints of Negative Capability	169
Constraint Without Deep Structure	170
4 The Making of Society Through Politics: Imagining Transformation	172
THE MAKING OF CONTEMPORARY FORMATIVE CONTEXTS: AN INSTITUTIONAL GENEALOGY	172
The Genesis of Formative Contexts and the Theory of Context Making	172
A Skeptical Prologue: Private Enterprise and Government Policy	176
The Genesis of the Work-Organization Complex	180
The Mythical History of Work Organization	180
The Conflict over the Organizational Form of Manufacturing	183
The Conflict over the Organizational Form of Agriculture	187
Contemporary Debates	192
The Genesis of the Private-Rights Complex	195
Its Elements Reviewed	195
The Paradox of Origin	198
The Paradox of Specification	200
The Paradox of Superfluity	204

The Genesis of the Governmental-Organization
Complex	207
Its Elements Reviewed	207
Two Chronologies	209
The Mythical History of Democracy	211
Objection to the Mythical History: The Surprise of Universal Suffrage	213
Objections to the Mythical History: Parties and the Conditions of Stability	217
Themes of the Institutional Genealogy	221
Provisional Conclusions	221
Truth and Error in the Polemic Against Petty Commodity Production	223
The Minimalist and the Maximalist Interpretations of the Institutional Genealogy	228
The Genesis of Another formative Context: The Communist Alternative	230
Applying the Spirit of the Institutional Genealogy to the Non-Western World: Two Examples	230
Understanding the Soviet Alternative Without the Help of Deep-Structure Social Theory	232
The Origins of the Soviet Model	234
A Failed Attempt to Break Out from the Soviet Model: The Chinese Culture Revolution	241
A THEORY OF CONTEXT MAKING	246
The Agenda of the Theory	246
The Implicit Theoretical Polemic Recalled	246
The Theory Outlined	248
Guiding Intentions	251
Stability and Destabilization in the Working of Formative Contexts	254
The Core Conception	254
The Second-Order Necessity of Formative Contexts: The Organizational and Technological Style	256

The Second-Order Necessity of Formative Contexts: The Logic of Group Interests	263
The Second-Order Necessity of Formative Contexts: The Imagination of an Intelligible and Defensible Scheme of Human Association	269
The Escalation of Conflict: The Unavailability of Necessary and Sufficient Conditions	275
Negative Capability	277
The Core Idea	277
The Practical Advantages of Disentrenchment	282
A Comparative Historical Perspective on the Thesis of Negative Capability	288
The Noneconomic Varieties of Negative Capability	290
The Problem of Agency: The Intentional and the Unintentional Development of Negative Capability	294
The Thesis of Negative Capability Qualified and Reinterpreted	302
Applying the Thesis of Negative Capability: Classes and the State	305
The Sequential Effects of Formative Contexts	312
The Idea of Sequential Effects	312
The Interplay Between Negative Capability and Sequential Effects	315
The Factor of Disturbance: Trashing the Script	319
Resistance to the Context	319
The Context-Transcending Imagination and the Factor of Disturbance	320
The Self-Fulfilling Quality of Our Theoretical Conceptions	322
The Uses of the Theory of Context Making	324
The Complete Job	324
The Normal Practice of a Politicized Social Theory	327
A Coda: Functional and Counterfactual Explanation in the Theory of Context Making	332

Functional Explanation in the Theory	332
Counterfactual Explanation in the Theory	337
5 The Program of Empowered Democracy: The Remaking of Institutional Arrangements	341
FROM EXPLANATIONS TO PROGRAMS	341
Plan of the Discussion	341
The Rescue of Petty Commodity Production	341
The Advantages of Not Fitting	347
The Normative Force of Conceptions of Empowerment	350
THE JUSTIFICATION	355
Internal and Visionary Argument	355
The Visionary Justification for Empowered Democracy	362
Empowerment and Context Smashing	362
The Radical Project and the Vision of Empowered Democracy	364
Facts and Values in the Vision of Empowered Democracy	365
The Internal Justification of Empowered Democracy: The State Not Hostage to a Faction	368
The Internal Justification of Empowered Democracy: Society as an Artifact of Will	373
The Internal Justification of Empowered Democracy: The Frustration and Fulfillment of Party-Political Programs	377
A Different Version of Internal Argument	377
The Conservative (Classical-Liberal) Program of Governmental Decentralization and Economic Competition	379
The Centrist Program of Corporatism and Community	384
The Social-Democratic Program of Redistribution and Participation	389

The Radical Direction of the Internal Argument	391
THE PRACTICE	395
The Problems of Transformative Practice	395
The Task of a View of Transformative Practice	395
Reconstructing Institutional Arrangements and Revising Personal Relations	397
Transformative Practice from the Top Down and from the Bottom Up	401
The Transformative Movement in Quest of Power	407
The First Task: Linking Grassroots Mobilization with the Contest for Governmental Power	407
The Second Task: The Experimental Anticipation of Empowered Democracy	411
The Third Task: Recruiting and Managing the Cadres	415
The Fourth Task: Recognizing and Devaluing the Logic of Group Interests	420
The Fifth Task: Identifying and Exploiting Transformative Opportunity in the Midst of Stability	424
The Sixth Task: Formulating a Visionary Language	430
The Transformative Movement in Power	432
A Second Moment of Transformative Practice	432
The Primacy of Institutional Reconstruction over Economic Redistribution	432
The Combination of Central Decision with Popular Engagement	436
THE INSTITUTIONS	441
The Idea of an Institutional Program	441
An Experiment in Constitutional Reorganization: The Example of the Dualistic Systems	444
The Organization of Government: The Multiplication of Overlapping Powers and Functions	449
The Organization of Government: Shaping and Resolving the Conflict of Powers	454

The Organization of Government: The Decisional Center	457
The Organization of Government: Making Miniconstitutions	461
The Organizations of Partisan Conflict: Political Stability in an Empowered Democracy	462
Breaking the Rules: The Forms of Decentralization	474
The Organization of Antigovernment: The Structure of Voluntary Association	476
The Organization of the Economy: The Current Market Regime and Its Costs	480
The Organization of the Economy: The Rotating Capital Fund and Its Democratic Control	491
The Core Conception	491
The Central Capital Fund	493
The Investment Funds: Capital Auctioning and Capital Rationing	494
The Primary Capital Takers: Problems of Scale and Incentives	497
Contrast with an Inheritance-Free Property System	500
Supplementary Ideas	501
The Organization of the Economy: The Danger of Centralization and Its Antidotes	502
The Organization of the Economy: The Design of Work	506
The System of Rights	508
Redefining Rights	508
The Trouble with the Established System of Legal Rights	511
The Generative Principles of a Reconstructed System of Rights	513
Market Rights	520
Immunity Rights	524
Destabilization Rights	530

Solidarity Rights	535
Opportunities, Alliances, and Transitions	539
Opportunities	540
Alliances	546
Transitions	550
The Cultural-Revolutionary Counterpart to the Institutional Program	556
The Idea of a Personalist Program	556
A Unifying Theme of the Cultural-Revolutionary Program: A Transformed Conception of Community	560
A Plank in the Cultural-Revolutionary Platform: Role Defiance and Role Jumbling	563
A Plank in the Cultural-Revolutionary Platform: The Confusion of Expressive Means	564
The Available Points of Departure: Two Truncated Versions of Cultural Revolution	566
THE SPIRIT	570
The Senses of Spirit	570
The Spirit of the Constitution: The Structure-Denying Structure	572
The Spirit of the Constitution: The Ideal of Empowerment	575
The Spirit of the Constitution: Empowerment Imagined and Perverted	581
The Spirit of the Constitution Redefined by Contrast	585
The Meaning of Imperfection	589
Self-Reproduction and Stability	589
Militancy and Empowerment	590
Solidarity and Empowerment	592

Appendix to the New Edition: Five Theses on the Relation of Religion to Politics, Illustrated by Allusions to Brazilian Experience

1	The Personality Thesis	597
2	The Democracy Thesis	598
3	The Macro–Micro Thesis	599
4	The Antiparticularism Thesis	600
5	The Missing Agent Thesis	602
	Bibliographical Notes	604
	Proper-Name Index	640
	Thematic Index	643