

Subject: [SALDF] Whiskers on Kittens!
From: Marissa Dirks <mdirks@law.harvard.edu>
Date: 5/3/2007 8:28 AM

Ok, well, it will actually be whiskers on puppies, but that sounded better ;)

Join SALDF tonight on the Hark Patio from 6:30-8:30 as we team up with the Dean of Students' Wellness Program. Free doggie kisses!

Take a study break, and get a snack and a 5 minute massage, all while enjoying the nice evening weather and snuggling a dog! (You don't see that combination everyday). Stop by tonight!

Also, the Harvard Review of Philosophy is hosting a second interdisciplinary panel in the area of Animal Rights/Welfare.

Come listen to Paul Waldau, Janet Browne, Harriet Ritvo, and Peter Sacks on Wednesday May 9 in Harvard Hall 104 (7:30) as they discuss animals in literature, science, history, religion and the law. Hope you can make it. The last panel was a HUGE success!

Good luck finishing up exams (2-L's), handing in final papers (3-L's) and studying (1-L's)!!

SALDF